Linux Foundation Events are where 90,000+ developers and technologists from across the globe meet to share ideas, learn and collaborate to drive innovation.

Open source communities are nearly always virtual and distributed, so when they get together face to face they can make quick progress on issues big and small. In this way, events help maintain the vibrancy of global open source communities and ensure their long-term sustainability.

Open source is ubiquitous in computing—nearly all leading organizations use it to power their work. To deliver the most innovative products and services to their users and customers, companies must learn directly from the technologists who steer the most widely used and influential projects.

Linux Foundation Events are the meeting place of choice for open source maintainers, developers, architects, infrastructure managers and sysadmins, as well as technologists leading open source program offices, DevRel teams and other critical leadership functions. They are:

- The best place to quickly gain visibility within the open source community and to advance open source development work by forming connections with the people evaluating and creating the next generation of technology.
- A forum to identify software trends early to inform future technology investments.
- The ripest recruiting ground in today's technology landscape.
- The ideal venue to showcase technologies and services to influential open source professionals, media, and analysts around the globe.

The Linux Foundation brings together companies and individual contributors to build the greatest shared technology in history. We provide the events, training, certification, open source best practices and ecosystem development necessary to build, scale, and sustain critical open source projects and communities. As the home of over 400 open source projects driving critical technologies, there is no organization better positioned to gather the open source community for important face to face interaction to drive innovation across open source. And, unlike for-profit event management firms, any money generated by our events is channeled back into supporting open source communities to support their growth.

Linux Plumbers Conference

November 13-15, 2023 | Hybrid Event | Richmond, VA

The Linux Plumbers Conference (LPC) is a developer conference for the open source community.

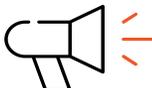

LPC brings together the top developers working on the “plumbing” of Linux — kernel subsystems, core libraries, windowing systems, etc. — and gives them three days to work together on core design problems. The conference is divided into several working sessions focusing on different “plumbing” topics, as well as a general paper track.

LPC launched in 2008 at the behest of the community and continues to provide a space where developers working in subsystems can come together to solve problems in real time. 500 developers gather annually for this event; the conference is limited to this number of people for maximum collaboration opportunities.

R/Medicine 2023

June 5-9, 2023 | Virtual

The goal of the R/Medicine conference and community is to promote the development and use of R-based tools to improve clinical research and practice.

R is a free and open-source programming language for reproducible statistical computing, data visualization, and application development. R is the gold standard in reproducible research for academia and industry and has powerful capabilities to create highly customizable, interactive, analytic dashboards, as well as predictive models that employ machine learning, deep learning, and artificial intelligence.

R/Medicine was formed through a collaborative effort of the R Consortium with academic and industry partners including Yale University, Stanford University, the Mayo Clinic, and RStudio, Inc (now Posit, PBC). Presentations at R/Medicine conferences showcase how the R ecosystem is currently leveraged in medical applications including clinical trial design and analysis, personalized medicine, the development of machine learning models using laboratory and patient record data, and reproducible research.

The inaugural R/Medicine conference was a two-day event held in 2018 at Yale University that featured distinguished speakers including Rob Tibshirani (Professor of Biomedical Data Science at Stanford and inventor of the LASSO method of regularized linear regression), Max Kuhn (a best-selling author of books on machine learning, the former Senior Director of Statistics at Pfizer and the creator of R packages and {tinymodels} meta-packages used by millions of people), and 150 attendees. For the second year, a half-day preconference workshop was added to the schedule that featured parallel workshops for attendees in order to provide data literacy and data science education.

The 2020, 2021, and 2022 R/Medicine Conferences were held virtually as single-track events with two days of short courses followed by two days of keynotes and contributed presentations. The virtual format proved extremely successful — in 2022, we had 473 attendees from 53 countries, with a wide range of experience.

This year's five-day event will be two days of preconference short courses, one day of hands-on practice, followed by two days of keynotes and contributed presentations from representatives of biostatistics, the pharmaceutical industry, regulators, and clinical laboratories.

Partnerships

We are interested in developing partnerships with organizations that aim to offer state-of-the-art education in basic data literacy and more advanced data science in a way that is suitable to “end-user” healthcare professionals, including professionals that have no programming background, ranging from data managers all the way to healthcare executives.

About Open Source in Finance Forum

November 1, 2023 | New York, NY

The Open Source in Finance Forum is a conference for experts across financial services, technology and open source to deepen collaboration and drive innovation across the industry in order to deliver better code faster.

Financial services firms make extensive use of open source, and are now starting to take full advantage of this incredible resource. By becoming strategic contributors to open source projects, companies decrease development costs, improve security, attract developers, and innovate faster. This event will showcase recent developments and the direction of open source in financial services; provide practical knowledge and guidance on best practices, tools and technologies; explore how to build a successful community; and provide unparalleled opportunities to network with the executives and individuals driving open source in financial services.

We want to give the best value possible for sponsors of OSFF, whether you are a FINOS Member or not. Your sponsorship shouldn't just be a single transaction, it should be part of an integrated plan to capture the attention of the FINOS Community not just once, but multiple times.

In all of our marketing, but especially for sponsorship of OSFF, we believe in the power of the "story arc". We want to give sponsors and members the opportunity to connect with the FINOS Community, as well as OSFF attendees multiple times throughout the year. By the time you get to OSFF at your sponsor table, your interactions with attendees are not the climax, but actually the denouement ("the final part of a play, movie, or narrative in which the strands of the plot are drawn together and matters are explained or resolved.")

Our sponsorship levels give you the ability to be part of podcasts, blog posts, social posts, that hit the entire FINOS Ecosystem, as well as additional opportunities to participate in webinars and in-person meetups that hit specific communities and interests around open source regulation in finance, interoperability (desktop and others), open source readiness (compliance, OSPOs, etc), and then the technical projects that live in the FINOS landscape.

If you're looking for a custom package, please reach out to us at sponsorships@linuxfoundation.org so that we can make sure the sponsorship meets your company's goals.

Additional sponsorship opportunities:

- FINOS Member Meeting — London, June 14-15 (Members Only)
- FINOS In Person Meetups (New York and London)
- FINOS Webinars
- FINOS Open Source in Finance Podcast
